Letter of interest

I have found the initiative "Organisms Democracy Baltic Sea" particularly interesting and worth the support from research institutes. Institute of Oceanology PAS, works with the basic problems in the marine research, both in the Baltic and Northern Atlantic in the fields of climatology, marine physics, biology, chemistry and geology. Still, we are turning our attention to the societal dimension of our work, and the relations of Man and Nature – so the projects on socioeconomy, sociocultural valuation, environmental sociology are of interest to us as well.

From what I have learned reading Organisms Democracy documents, this is interesting attempt to change the attitude towards the living world, very important task – especially now, as we have started the dispute about leaving half Earth to the Nature versus sharing the Earth with the Nature.

I declare my interest and will to continue the discussions in this field.
