

Nat Skoczylas (1987, they/them, Poland) is a full-time witch who uses art, production, writing, fiction, speculation, food and fermentation, serendipity, and intuition in their work. Their practice is centered around building empowering and healing spaces, primarily for FLINTA folks from Eastern Europe and the Baltics, as part of the new visions coven. They feed masses and small groups in an experimental and therapeutic manner, ferment and brew anarchist feminist beer. They work on various ways of wealth redistribution: as radical philanthropic advisor, soli wizard, rave doula/producer, and a member of various collective radical spaces in Berlin.
